

MACI CHANCE

Biography:

Maci is a Realtor in the Denver, Colorado metro area who is not only skilled at helping anyone with their Real Estate transactions but her own story has put her on a path to specialize in providing support and guidance for those going through a divorce in need of selling their marital home and finding a home to start their next chapter. Her strengths lie in her ability to transform a process typically filled with fear, uncertainty and monumental challenge to one full of courage, ease and abundant opportunity.

After her divorce, Maci made a vow to herself to live a life fully awake and to always continue the on the path of personal and professional growth. Maci has moved from surviving to thriving, and has made her two daughters a part of every aspect of this empowering journey and takes pride in the foundation she has established for them.

"I want women to know that they can get through hard things, and they will come out the other side a stronger, better version of themselves."
